Playing the Game

Each player receives 3 Ingredient cards and one Recipe Guide (which features the names of all the smoothies and their ingredients).

At the start of the game, a recipe card is drawn and placed face-up. This is the smoothie that the customer wants to purchase. The players must fill this order by the end of the turn or that customer will leave.

Each player may ask one another player for an Ingredient. If the player does have the requested Ingredient, he or she must hand it to the requesting player. If the player does not have the Ingredient, that player may give the requesting player any one card in his or her hand.

Once all players have traded, each player draws an additional card. If at this point, none of the players has the right Ingredients to make the Smoothie, the next Recipe card is drawn and the old one is discarded.

When a player does have the required Ingredients (at any time in the game), he or she may say, "Here's your Smoothie!" and claim the Recipe card as a prize. Any ingredients that player used to make the Smoothie are discarded. A new Recipe card is overturned and trading begins anew.

Winning the Game

Play continues until all orders have been filled (the Recipe cards are all claimed). The winner is the player that filled the most orders.
